Student Voice: News article

Before half term Student Voice decided to sub-divide into three focus groups being: teaching and learning, community and engagement, and building and operations. Each team have been looking into different ways that the Academy could improve within these areas. We've reviewed the Ofsted report to contribute to our ideas' and put them into action. Work by Student Voice now links and corresponds in relation to the Academy's Ofsted report in aim to support the Academy on it's continuing journey. Teaching and learning are currently planning a 'What type of learner are you' questionnaire that will soon be taken by all students across the Academy in form time. We feel that by understanding what type of learner you are will benefit students immensely coming up to the exam period and to also assist revision techniques. This information will also be shared with teaching staff to support them with fundamental new ways of planning and delivering lessons. Furthermore community and engagement have been finalising plans for 'Red Nose Day' events happening towards the end of March. In addition Building and Operations are looking into getting picnic blankets for the summer months to be provided to students at lunch time, to therefore be able to sit on the field comfortably and enjoy their lunch. Please keep track with what Student Voice are doing on our notice board down near the café as this displays important information including dates and events. We've happily welcomed a new member to the team, Cameron Payne in Year 7. We hold meetings on a weekly basis in Room 0036 at 13:30 on a Wednesday, please feel free to drop in and become a member of our Student Voice team.
